

"Vote Yes For Children" is School Bond Election Slogan

High School, Elementary Election Dec. 5

As was explained in last week's Review, it will be necessary for the Lemon Grove School District to bond itself to 95% of its bonding capacity before the State funds recently released to them can become available.

The State Allocation Board gave the district a conditional appropriation early this month of $1,344,268.00 which will be used to construct the necessary classrooms. Terms which must be met by the district are (1) the bonding to 95% of legal capacity, and (2) the authorizing by the voters that the Board of Trustees accept at least the funds granted in the allocation.

Plans have been made for the districtwide School Bond Election on Tuesday, December 5, when qualified voters of the community will have an opportunity to approve both of these conditions.

"Vote Yes for Children" is the slogan adopted by the School Election Campaign Committee, which was formed to present the facts of the election and the school building program to the people of Lemon Grove.

Dorman General Chairman

V. J. Dorman, president of the Chamber of Commerce, is general chairman for the campaign. Mrs. Robert Brown and Mrs. B. L. Netley are acting as co-chairmen of the PTA committee. The function of this particular committee will be to contact members of the association and interpret the issue to them.

S. K. Solleder, director of education in local schools, will serve as chairman for the faculty committee. All teachers in the district will co-operate with Mr. Solleder's committee in explaining, through the students, the great need for the approval of the issue.

Rev. J. Morris Mulkey will be chairman of the Church and Civic Committee, which will seek resolutions of endorsement from such groups and obtain qualified speakers on the subject.

Most of our citizens realize the great need facing the district for more classrooms.

At present 5 out of 6 students in the schools are on double session, thus losing the benefit of a full day of educational instruction. There are now 26 adequate classrooms in the Lemon Grove District, where 59 are needed. That means a lack of 33 classrooms—the amount needed before all pupils can have regular classes and schedules.

No Tax Increase Anticipated

By voting the $71,000, the citizens can make available almost 20 times that amount, all of which will be used for the building program. No increase in taxes is anticipated.

Your school is your voting place. Lemon Grove, Vista La Mesa and Monterey Heights will be the polling places for this district. Any registered voter residing in Lemon Grove School District is eligible to vote at this school bond election on December 5.

If a person voted at the general election in November this year, he is eligible to vote Yes for children. If you are in doubt as to your status as a qualified voter, verify that status by calling W-6311, Registrar of Voters office.

Hi, Neighbor

by Mac Rex Graham

Another Thanksgiving finds us in the midst of war with thousands of families separated because of loved ones on the battle front in Korea, in an army of occupation, or in training camps.

When we offer our prayers of thanks next Thursday shall we take time to pray for those here at home and those in service, that above the battle clouds they may see the sunshine of the Father's love and everlasting care.

Thomas Curtis Clark encompasses so much in this prayer:

For all the gifts the orchards yield,
The treasures borne from wood and field,
For harvest songs, for children's cheer,
All joys that crown the fleeting year.

We thank Thee.

For homes that still, by faith and prayer,
Reveal Thy spirit, dwelling there,
For friends that we may daily meet,
For love that makes existence sweet.

We thank Thee.

For trust in good, despite all ills,
For hope that every true heart fills,
For faith that meets each haunting fear,
With courage, knowing Thou art near.

We thank Thee.

For all the hopes and patriot dreams,
Our fathers passed to us, the gleams,
That tell the triumph of the good,
Bright promises of brotherhood.

We thank Thee.

Local Anglers on Television

The recent catching of a 5½ foot Bonita Shark by John van Gilse provided the main feature of the weekly "Fishing Pals" television program last Friday night on TV station KFI, channel 9. Van Gilse made the catch at the Coronado Islands, Mexico, on November 1, with the noted fishing authority, Charles T. Davis, taking the pictures. Joe La Berge, another local angler, also was on the program, shown catching one of the 21 large yellowtail taken by anglers aboard the H. & M. Sportfisher VI on that day.

BEGONIA SOCIETY MEETS

The La Mesa Begonia Society will meet Monday in Porter Park at 7:30 p. m. Mrs. Mary Harvey will talk on flower arrangements. Those interested are welcome.

Philharmonic Program Released

Dr. Leslie Hodge, conductor of the San Diego Philharmonic Orchestra, has announced the program for the symphony's first season on November 28 at 8:30 p. m. in Russ Auditorium.

Soloist with the first resident wintertime symphony in San Diego's history on this concert will be the truly astonishing 22-year-old pianist, Jacob Lateiner, who scored sensational successes in his Carnegie Hall recital, with NBC Symphony, and elsewhere throughout the country. Lateiner will be heard with the San Diego Philharmonic in the Tchaikovsky Piano Concerto No. 1 in B-flat minor.

Major orchestral work on the first concert will be Respighi's tone poem, "The Pines of Rome," for which the 65-piece orchestra will be augmented by three trumpets, percussion, celeste and piano. Dr. Hodge will open the concert with Weber's "Der Freischütz" Overture, and the second half with the Prelude to Act I of Wagner's "Lohengrin."

An intensive drive for ticket sales was launched by the Women's Committee for the San Diego Philharmonic Society at a "kick-off" luncheon at Valle's Restaurant last Tuesday. Season tickets are now on sale, and single tickets will go on sale next Tuesday at the Philharmonic box office in the Southern California Music Co., 630 C Street.

Underwood Talks to County Group

Walter Underwood, national affairs advisor for the Chamber of Commerce of the United States will be the speaker at the San Diego County Development Federation meeting Tuesday evening at the Community Building in the park at National City, announces Ted Haaf, president.

Reservations may be made by calling Main 0121.

Announcement of an advisory committee of the Federation was made at the recent board meeting, President Haaf said.

"We are consulting with a number of organizations throughout the county to obtain their representatives on the advisory committee," Mr. Haaf said. "Our chief problems in the county have to do with roads, water and agriculture and we want those individuals closest to the picture to let us know their desires in these important matters."

Members of the Advisory Committee will take the recommendations to the Federation Board for consideration and planning in the overall program of county benefit. The system will work in reverse too, as the federation will be able to turn to this staff of experts for specific advice on phases of the program.

The Advisory Committee, to be appointed in the next two weeks, will meet jointly with the federation board December 8 to draft the county program.

Car and Train Meet at Crossing

Churches Unite to Give Thanks

The congregation and pastors of five churches in Lemon Grove area will join in a Union Thanksgiving Day service at the Lemon Grove Congregational Church, Main and Church streets, at 9:00 a. m. on next Thursday.

The cooperating churches and their respective pastors are: Seventh-Day Adventist, Rev. Chas. H. Betz; Lemon Grove Lutheran, Rev. W. LeRoy Elster; Vista La Mesa Christian, Rev. Russell Hensley; La Mesa United Presbyterian, Rev. L. E. Raines; First Congregational, Rev. Dan Apra.

Speaker for the service will be Pastor Charles H. Betz, whose sermon theme will be: "Be Ye Thankful."

The male quartet of Christian Church, Ray Wellington, Paul Myers, R. M. Hendee and Ronald Hendee, will sing. There will also be special music by the Lutheran Church.

All of the pastors will take part in the one-hour service, leading various phases of the worship.

No offering will be taken. There is a growing trend in the Nation to recapture the real spirit of Thanksgiving by spicing the day right—in Church. Instead of being immediately engrossed in the day's varied activities, people are finding a deep satisfaction and inspiration in this morning hour of Thankful Worship, which gives real meaning to the whole day.

All people of the area are invited to attend and enjoy this special service of Thanksgiving.

Super Duper Bed to be Exhibited

Among the many spectacular exhibits on display at this year's Electric and Home Appliance Show will be an "Electro-Marie Bed," as announced by Oscar Thompson, Show Committee chairman. This will be the first public glimpse of this bed-to-end-all-beds completely equipped with a variety of electrical appliances, including a television set.

Thompson stated that attendance at the Show, to be held from November 24 through November 29, at the Electric Building in Balboa Park, is expected to exceed last year's record-breaking 165,000.

There will be no exhibits in the Show which will not have some direct connection with home appliances. Thompson quoted J. Clark Chamberlain, manager of the Bureau of Home Appliances sponsoring the Show, as saying: "The brand names represented will constitute the greatest representation of the appliance industry ever gathered under one roof in Southern California."

Featured displays will include a model electric train exhibit shown through the combined operation of model, train builders of this area, with a specially designed exhibit to permit viewing from four sides.

Home lighting displays, featuring entirely new ideas, will be shown in several model interiors correctly lighted. Also, the public will have the first opportunity to see here in a completely enclosed living room, a demonstration of correct lighting when television is being seen. Expected to be of great interest is the showing of several model kitchens, featuring the use of both electric and gas equipment. The kitchen display will be by far the most ambitious ever shown in San Diego.

Applications for College Training Close Saturday

High school graduates have until Saturday of this week to submit applications for the Navy's College Training program (NROTC), as announced by the Commandant of the 11th Naval District.

The program, which offers four years at one of the 52 accredited colleges or universities leading to a regular degree and a commission in the regular Navy, Marine Corps or the Naval or Marine Corps Reserve is open to male citizens between the ages of 17 and 21. They can apply to their principal, dean or nearest Navy recruiting office for application forms.

In addition to age limits, applicants must be unmarried, meet the same physical and mental standards required of candidates for the U. S. Naval Academy and successfully pass the college aptitude test. The examination will be given on December 9 in 550 cities in the 48 States, as well as Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Canal Zone.

Students enrolled in this program will be deferred from induction under the Selective Service Act, pending completion of their academic course. They must, however, agree to serve on active duty for two years when graduated and commissioned if required by the Secretary of the Navy.

In this program the Navy pays for tuition, books and normal fees of the college; and in addition pays the student $50 a month living allowance. With certain limitations the student may take any course that he desires leading to a bachelor or higher degree, but must include in his curriculum prescribed naval subjects.

Second High School to be Built at Once

Grossmont Union High School is holding a bond election on Tuesday, December 5, at the same time as the elementary bond election, and for the same reason. Both school districts must bond themselves to 95% of capacity in order to qualify for the state funds to finance the building programs.

Therefore, the voters are asked to approve the local bond issues, which will entail no increase in taxes due to the fact that the districts paid off a considerable portion of the outstanding bonds, which together with an increase in valuation, on account of the tremendous building activities, permits the new issues to be carried under the present rate structure.

The issues to be decided are:

1—Will the voters approve a bond issue of $323,000 to help build the new high school in west La Mesa, and the first unit of the new high school in eastern El Cajon?

2—Will the voters accept the $1,900,000 from the state to provide for 3200 students to be enrolled at Grossmont in September 1951?

Your next question may be, "Why is another bond issue necessary when voters approved bond and participation in the state program last year by over 10 to 2?" The reason for this is that a new election is necessary in order to qualify for state funds. It must be remembered that the state building fund aids only those districts unable to finance their own building programs and which are bonded to capacity, (set by law at 5% of assessed valuation).

The district assessed valuation has increased since November, 1949, and bonds have been paid off during the year, so that there is now an unused bonding capacity of $323,000. Therefore a bond election must be approved before the board can accept State funds.

Hastily framed legislation and other delays in getting the state program under way are responsible for a bond election at this time. Your children need your help. Don't fail to vote Yes for school bonds, Tuesday, December 5.

D., Bishop of San Diego, will celebrate Pontifical low Mass and deliver a message to the teachers from the elementary and secondary schools in the Diocese, which comprises the counties of San Diego, Riverside, San Bernardino and Imperial. Sectional meetings will follow.

Luncheon at 12:15 will be followed by a concert of the All-City Parochial School Band and Catholic school orchestra string quartet. The day will close with Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament at 3:15.

The Superintendent of Diocesan Schools reports that there are 12,500 children in the elementary and secondary schools of the Diocese, which offer standard courses in all subjects, and are regulated by Diocesan rules and meet all requirements of State Laws.

Rain-Making Works

WHAT artificial rain-making can do to the far west staggers the imagination. It can make this area bloom like a Garden of Eden. It can throw Secretary of Agriculture Brannan's crop program out of balance. Or it could take rain away from other areas and make them deserts.

A brief sample of what rain-making can do occurred at Prosser, Wash., where Leo Horrigan, a big wheat rancher, hired Dr. Irving Frick, of the water resources development board of Pasadena, Calif., to seed the clouds at the time his wheat needed it most.

As a result, Horrigan's crop, previously estimated at 8 to 10 bushels per acre, shot up to 20 bushels per acre. His total yield was increased by half a million bushels.

Scientific seeding of the clouds might make unnecessary expensive irrigation projects, might raise the water level in the dry central valley of California, might settle the bitter water feud between California and Arizona over the Colorado river. On the other hand nobody knows yet whether tapping the clouds over one area will take rain away from another. That's why farsighted Sen. Clinton Anderson of New Mexico proposes legislation to control rain-making.

Battle-Experience Counts

The Korean war has exposed a glaring weakness in the army medical service—namely, that tragically few of its doctors were trained for front-line hospital work. As a result, wounded G.I.s suffered needless agony, even death, on the Korean front because army doctors didn't always know how to set up tents, improvise beds or stretchers, and organize field operating rooms.

Most of the young doctors, placed in command of field hospital units had never served outside big, modern hospitals. They had little experience under battle conditions, often weren't even taught the fundamentals of field hospital work.

Most people don't know it, but the army operates only one small field medical training center at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, under the command of a veteran field surgeon, Maj. Gen. Joseph I. Martin. However, only a fraction of army doctors have been able to take this training.

Even the surgeon-general, Maj. Gen. Raymond W. Bliss, has no background as a field surgeon but was selected on the basis of his record for operating large army hospitals. Like most of his predecessors, Bliss has had excellent hospital training but little experience near the front. Most military branches won't appoint a chief who hasn't been a field commander, but not in the medical corps.

Though battle-experienced doctors have pleaded for better field training, the armchair hospital brass have ignored their warnings. Meanwhile, the doctors in Korea are saying privately:

"For God's sake, give us a surgeon-general who knows what the battlefield is, and we'll teach young doctors how and what to do in the field."

Brotherhood at Work

Loyola university in Los Angeles canceled its scheduled football game with Texas Western at El Paso because Loyola had a Negro halfback whom Texas Western would not allow to play.

When Stanley Meyers of Universal Pictures congratulated Loyola fathers for their stand against race discrimination, one of them remarked: "Unfortunately, it cost us $8,000. That was the guarantee we were to give Texas Western, and we felt morally bound to pay them when we canceled. We don't know where we're going to get the $8,000, but it was worth the money."

"Never mind, Father," replied Meyers, "the Lord has ways to take care of those things."

So Meyers, giving the Lord an assist, went to Noah Dietrich, head of the Hughes Tool Company of Houston and the man whose telephone as well as that of Howard Hughes was tapped in Washington by Senator Brewster of Maine on behalf of Pan American Airways.

"Noah," said Meyers, "you recently joined the church. Also you're from Texas, a state whose attitude on the color question has just cost Loyola $8,000."

Meyers went on to suggest that Dietrich make up the money which Loyola College had lost. Next day the Loyola fathers were surprised to receive a check for $8,000.

More on Dewey-Hanley

Here is more inside on the bitter New York battle which raged over the heads of Gov. Tom Dewey and Joe Hanley.

Dewey heard of the existence of the Hanley "sell-out" letter, and on October 11 asked his lieutenant governor for a copy. Hanley refused. Hanley had written the letter to Kingsland Macey in September and sent a copy to James Leary, a Saratoga Springs lawyer, who showed it to various friends. However, Dewey was not able to get a copy.

RELIEVED OF COMMAND... Lt. Col. Stanton T. Smith, Jr., has been relieved of his command of the fighter unit involved in the strafing of a Russian airfield.

DENIES "KICKBACK"... Branding the charge as fantastic, Rep. Walter E. Brehm (R., Ohio) denies the accusation of a former member of his office staff that he made her kick back part of her salary over a period of three years.

GRANTLAND RICE

Another Champ Tottling

THIS HAS BEEN a rough year on champions. Notre Dame fell. Joe Louis tottered and was badly beaten. And now Calumet stable and the Jones boys are running second in the Big Money stakes after taking top honors in 1946, 1947, 1948 and 1949. Brookmeade's able stable, owned by Mrs. Dodge Sloan and trained by Preston Burch, is now in front with Vanderbilt closing in from third place.

Both Calumet and Vanderbilt are on their Grantland Rice way to California where the Hollywood track and Santa Anita are offering a flock of purses from $100,000 to $230,000—with $10,000 and $50,000 pick-ups scattered all over the Western Coast. At least that part bordering Los Angeles.

The $230,000 purse will be for the Maturity Stake, a four-year-old affair where Hill Prince will be the horse to beat now that Middle-ground's racing career has been ended by a broken ankle. It seems impossible to realize that Calumet, is no longer at the top. You turn back and see Citation, Coaltown, Whirlaway, Armed, Ponder, Fervent, Two Lea, Bewitch and many, many others who have dominated the tracks from here to nowhere and back.

Ben and Jimmy were dividing their big stable and were mopping up. Both are among the great trainers and they had the horses, largely the offspring of Bull Lea.

In 1947 Calumet piled up over $1,400,000, an all-time high. They won $1,269,710 in 1948 with Citation and Coaltown mopping up at every track. Ponder was a big money winner in 1949, ably abetted by Coaltown, and the stable's winnings totalled $1,128,943. But suddenly something happened. Something always happens in racing. And not always for the financial best. Bull Lea suddenly quit sending those crack two-year-olds to the tracks—two-year-olds who grew to be fine three-year-olds and four-year-olds.

Calumet was certain Citation, rated with Man o' War as a three-year-old, would collect most of the gold in California last winter. I saw him run several times, but 14-month absence from competition had taken its toll. Citation was no longer Citation and then there was Noror who would have taxed Citation even at his best on the coast tracks. Citation may come back again later. So may Coaltown, who won 12 straight in 1949.

Bowl Phantoms

It is still much too early to start lining up the various Bowls. But you can gamble each Bowl has more than one hard-working inspector working on the job. There are now four veteran Bowls with several added attractions. The four major Bowls are the Rose, Sugar, Cotton and Orange, at Pasadena, New Orleans, Dallas and Miami.

The Rose Bowl is the most uncertain of the lot. The Pacific coast champion will be in doubt for several more weeks. If Ohio State wins the Big Nine or Big Ten title, the second-best team will head west. The Big Nine has no outstanding delegation today. It could be Michigan, Purdue, Ohio State, Wisconsin or some other. The Big Nine is in the throes of an off year, compared to its big years in the past. California and Stanford still lead the west coast people with Washington close up.

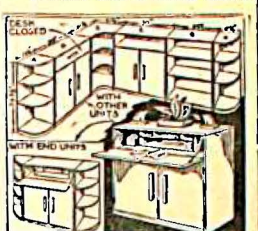

The Sugar Bowl at New Orleans, another 75,000 crowd-getter, is eyeing Kentucky, Tennessee, Maryland, Oklahoma and either Texas or S.M.U. As the Cotton Bowl at Dallas is banking on Texas or S.M.U., unless Rice can slip in, it appears that the winner here will remain in Texas on New Year's Day. Just at the moment the Cotton, Sugar and Orange Bowls are all watching the same teams—Texas, S.M.U., Rice, Tennessee, Kentucky, Maryland, Oklahoma and any outsider who may pop into the middle of the picture.

The southwest now has more bowl entries than any other sector. Texas, S.M.U. and Rice are all strong. T.C.U. can move up. There are no Bowl entries from the east. There are none from the midwest except the Rose Bowl nominee.

What To Do?

I checked last fall with graduate managers from Pennsylvania, Yale, UCLA and Southern California. Each figured television had cost them around 11,000 paid admissions each game—especially each important game. This was equal to a loss of $33,000 a game. They were getting $77,000 a season for television rights—not nearly enough to make up the heavy deficit and keep the sport going in the schools.

Political Parade

CLEM WHITTAKER, Jr.

It has been a long, lean period for the GOP since 1932—but a gleam grows in Republican eyes at the thought of Dwight Eisenhower in '52.

Rolling the name around on the tips of their tongues like kids do sugar plums, the Republicans just can't wait for the tasty Eisenhower for President dish.

Maybe it's because they have wanted to savor the presidency for so long that the GOP thinks of Eisenhower as their candidate—surely they could win with him. There's a strong possibility that with Eisenhower the GOP could bring about a major realignment in national politics, for the Southern Democrats report that the General is a man they would back, too.

Despite all political gossip about him, however, the fact of the matter is that General Eisenhower never will actually become a candidate for President! For any time the genial Ike becomes a serious contender President Truman can always find a reason for recalling him to military service—and Eisenhower, having been a professional soldier most of his life, never would say "no" to such a summons from his Commander-in-Chief in the showdown.

Just a short time ago, wire services carried the story that the 12-Nation military committee of the North Atlantic Pact unanimously recommended General Dwight D. Eisenhower as Supreme Commander of Western Europe's unified defense forces. After that announcement, General Eisenhower conferred with the President concerning the appointment.

The General makes no bones about the fact that he will accept the post. "As a soldier, I feel it would be my duty," Eisenhower told reporters.

As Supreme Commander of Western Europe's unified defense forces, General Eisenhower hardly would have time to be a candidate for President of the United States. The sooner Republicans recognize the fact and settle on another candidate of equally high caliber—rather than picking fence-straddling politicians, as has been their wont of late—the better off they will be. To be truthful, the better off the United States may be, for there might be a return to the two-party system where the voters have a choice between candidates.

At any rate, that's the story of the man who could be elected President, but probably never will be a candidate.

FROM THE NEWS CIRCUIT JAMES DORAIS

From the decisive victory of California's Richard Nixon to the dumping of New York's Marcantonio, the sweeping GOP Congressional gains clearly reflect the growing concern of the American people over the extent of Communist infiltration in government.

No longer is it possible to dismiss charges of Communist influence in federal bureaus and departments of government as "McCarthyism." The defeat of veteran Sen. Tydings of Maryland, who was unfortunate to be the Administration's buffer against the McCarthy attack, has established that.

It's true, of course, that some of the attacks have been unsubstantiated and unfounded in provable fact. And some of the more vehement attackers may properly have earned the label witch-hunter.

But the Richard Nixon brand of investigation, as the voters approval confirmed, is far from the witch-hunting category. And the Alger Hiss case, which he uncovered, was far from a witch hunt.

It was the conviction of Hiss, probably more than anything else, that switched the thought that all might be well in the Nation's capital from idle conjecture to lively suspicion. For Hiss was the prototype of the idealistic, fair-haired New Dealer—the clean-cut well educated lad devoting his life to the service of his country.

Some of his ideas, and those of many of his kind, were considered advanced, perhaps but his integrity was unquestioned. When it was questioned finally, and found wholly lacking, the shock was profound.

Since the Hiss conviction, 280 federal employees have been discharged as security risks under the loyalty program; 1593 have resigned while under FBI investigation and 1171 quit before hearings of the loyalty boards were completed. The total separations were 3,044—a fifth column of no small proportions.

But the mere tightening of security procedure, the recent election suggests, is not enough. The voters, obviously are just as much concerned with the long-existing conditions that made the employment of security risks possible.

The advanced ideas of Alger Hiss as much as Hiss and his compatriots, are under searching review.

The election suggests that not just communism in name, but Communism in principle, and its brotherism—Socialism—are under attack.

Many of the advanced ideas of the fair-haired New Dealer—regimented agriculture, compulsory health insurance, socialized housing, to name a few—have gained a good deal of ground. It is a hopeful sign for all Americans who cherish freedom and liberty that so many candidates who espoused them came a cropper on November 7.

Thirty Months Overdue, Letter Makes a Christmas in August

By BILLY ROSE

This morning's batch of mail included the following from a man in Great Neck, L. I.:

Dear Billy Rose:
As you probably noticed in the papers one day last August a boy named Henry Turill found a sack of undelivered mail in the rear of a junked automobile on the outskirts of Great Neck.

It consisted mostly of Christmas cards which had been mailed in December, 1947, and the postoffice, after apologizing for the delay, promised to deliver them the next day.

Well, one of the pieces of mail was addressed to me—a letter from my wife, postmarked Cleveland, Ohio, and dated December 19, 1947. But what was in that letter won't make sense to you unless I first tell you something about myself.

Shortly after I was married in '44, the draft boards began taking anything with two legs, and after ten months in Texas I was put on a boat and shipped off to that swamp called Okinawa. By the time I got there, the shooting was over, so I guess I was better off than most of the boys, but it was a dull and muddy sort of life, and I was plenty glad when I was shipped back and discharged in '47.

IT WAS TWO DAYS before Christmas when I arrived in Great Neck, and you can imagine how let down I felt when I found that my wife wasn't there waiting for me. Instead, there was a note on the table saying her mother wasn't feeling well, and she had gone to Cleveland. She'd be back in a few days—that is, if everything was all right.

This, of course, wasn't the homecoming I'd been figuring on and I took it pretty hard. But realizing there was nothing I could do about it—her mother didn't even have a phone—I sent her a Merry Christmas wire and told her to hurry back as soon as she could. It wasn't until after New Year's, however, that my wife showed up.

That was in '47, and in the past three years a lot of nice things have happened to us—a son, a pretty good job, and most of the mortgage paid off on our house. None of which would have come about if the letter my wife sent me from Cleveland had arrived on schedule.

In it, you see, she confessed there had been another man while I'd been away—nobody she cared anything about, just someone who had happened along while she was lonely and miserable. She said if I didn't want her to come back to write and say so and she'd understand, but if she didn't hear from me she'd figure I had forgiven her and would return and try to make it up to me.

WHEN THE MAILMAN handed me this three-year-old letter a couple of weeks ago, I wondered what the heck was in it, so I ripped it open and read it right there on the porch. And corny as it sounds, all the time I was reading it I could hear the vacuum going inside and my son making a racket in his upstairs bedroom.

Chances are, had I gotten this letter when I was fresh out of the army and plenty hungry, I would have called my wife every dirty name and busted up our marriage as fast as the law would allow. But standing there on the porch I thought of the three good years we'd had together and the 30 more, maybe, coming up—not to mention the fact that I hadn't always been a saint myself. So, I put the letter in my pocket, and that night after work went to a jewelry store and made a down-payment on one of those wristwatches with little red stones.

When I handed the present to my missus after dinner, she said, "What's this—Christmas in August?"
"Exactly, baby," I said, and then I told her I had finally gotten her letter and how happy I was it had come 30 months late.

Since then we have talked a lot about this lucky accident, and today we decided there's a lesson in the story which might help a lot of other couples who feel like busting their marriages the first time something goes wrong. If you run this letter in your column, we'd appreciate it, of course, if you didn't use our real names.

KEEP your story TOLD

If there is one enterprise on earth that the quitter should leave alone it is advertising. Advertising does not jerk... it pulls. It pulls gently at first but the pull is steady. It increases day by day, year by year, until it exerts an irresistible power.—John Wanamaker.

It was John Wanamaker who once said he would never let the local newspapers go to press without his name in its advertising columns.

Talks and Talks With Mother Nature

BY TRIXIE TREGANZA

THE PINKERTON RAVEN

That Ravens display great sagacity in their quest for food is well known. "We never forget," is the motto of the Pinkerton Raven. Many observers testify that Ravens will take unopened cans to a considerable height and let them fall upon the rocks in order to smash them open.

Ravens are stately and rather sedate birds. On the ground their movements are rather dignified; their walk is graceful and seldom varied by hurried hop and jumps.

They appear to still better advantage on the wing, especially in winter and early spring, when pairs may frequently be seen playing with each other, performing extraordinary feats in the air, such as somersaults, trying to fly on their backs, etc. At this season they seem to enjoy life most, and give vent to their usually not very exuberant spirits by a series of low chuckling and gurgling notes, evidently in different efforts at singing.

In my experience, these springtime excesses are not often displayed in company. As is well known the Ravens are mated for life. The companionship of his mate is quite sufficient for him and the Raven usually shuns the society of his fellows.

But in early springtime it is different. The social instinct overcomes both sexes alike. Besides that vows must be redeclared even though acceptance be assured; and how could the dutiful wife know that her hubby was keeping up with the procession unless he proved himself out in the lists annually doing stunts with the other fellows.

Anyway the court of Venus is set up each year in the neighborhood of some beetling seacliff, or before some huge monument of sandstone in the cattle country.

One who has been privileged to see a Raven circus in session feels as though he had caught the Olympians at a backyard frolic. Dignity is thrown to the winds, and sable seigneurs don caps and bells, while prim ladies do aerial skirt dances amid the debris of metaphorical champagne bottles.

Concerning the notes of the Raven it is quite certain that a volume might be written, for this most intelligent bird succeeds in communicating his emotions fully, at least to his mate. Yet for all the centuries of association, no discriminating ear has seriously analyzed the Raven's notes; or if so, no record has been left. Croak is the imitative word most often used to characterize the note of the Raven, but perhaps k r a w k would hit it more nearly.

Of the nesting of the Raven, a separate volume might be written; a romance of the wilderness, so is his nest the rightful citadel. To be sure, civilization has brought the proud bird to some sorry passes. But cliffs are the Raven's proper home, and the further these are removed from the maddening crowd, the better she likes it. In seeking out the wild canyons and the breaks of semi-arid ranges, the Raven finds

He is reputed to be a good talker, albeit with a speech of a certain muffled quality, due no doubt to the depth of his voice.

Lemon Grove School News

DISTRICT TEACHERS MEET

The Lemon Grove District Teachers Association held a business meeting in the school cafeteria last Wednesday evening with Mrs. Hazel Schwalm, Vista La Mesa teacher and president of the group, presiding.

Reports from the executive board were given including reports from Mrs. Berdel, treasurer, who presented the 1950-51 budget for approval, and from Mrs. Snell, chairman of the salary and evaluation committee.

Supt. B. L. Netzel reported in detail on the approaching school bond election on December 5, when members of the community will be asked to vote Yes for children, so that Lemon Grove District will become eligible for the funds for increased building recently made available by the Allocation Board in Sacramento.

The cafeteria was effectively decorated with posters by Mrs. Lowery, who further emphasized the poster theme by a report on the California Teachers Association and its services to teachers in the field.

Initial plans were made for a Christmas party to be held in the Lemon Grove cafeteria.

Reading Conference

Teachers and administrators from grades 1 through 6 were privileged to hear Dr. Carlston, educator, at a meeting in the cafeteria Tuesday evening.

Formerly of Minnesota, Dr. Carlston is a member of the faculty at State College, where he instructs prospective teachers. He discussed remedial reading classes and the many reasons why such classes are necessary. Dr. Carlston stressed that by enjoyable reading activities, better readers in the schools would be the result.

Lemon Grove News

News that the Grossmont Board of Trustees had set a school election on Tuesday, December 5, brought a ready response from members of the Grossmont Parent-Teacher Executive Board. It was pointed out that the election was necessary in order to qualify the elementary and high school districts to accept funds from the State Building Fund. The State funds are essential if we build the classrooms needed to eliminate half day sessions. "We will contact parents and others to promote better schools for a better community," stated the volunteers, who are Mrs. J. B. The itinerary included the San Diego Mission, Presidio Park, the Naval Training Station, aircraft plants and San Diego harbor.

Two round trips were made on the Coronado Ferry, enabling the children to observe many of the things about which they had studied.

FARM NEWS

AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION SERVICE

4-H CLUB BEEF

Continuous gains are necessary for successful 4-H Club beef project, according to Fred W. Dorman, Farm Advisor. The animal should have all of the good pasture or hay it can eat, and not over two or three pounds of concentrates per day.

Dorman states that many 4-H members attempt to push their calves too fast and put too much fat on them. Most of the necessary feed should come from hay or pasture. They're much cheaper.

Cattle finished to the grade of "Good" will usually return a higher profit than when finished to the grade of "Choice" or "Prime" grade. Profits are more desirable than blue ribbons at the fair.

USING DDT FOR TERMITE CONTROL

The news that a 5 percent solution of DDT in fuel oil or diesel has been found to be an effective soil poison for use against termites has brought many inquiries for further details. Farm Advisor B. J. Hall, of the University of California Agricultural Extension Service, reports that the U. S. Department of Agricultural Extension Service has supplied added information on this development.

DDT, like other soil poisons, used to protect buildings, should not be depended on to take the place of proper construction or the necessary alterations. The soil poisons are usually applied about the foundations of buildings to kill the termites which are already present and to prevent others from passing through the poisoned soil. Homeowners need to keep in mind that the solution can damage the roots of shrubbery, if the oil comes in contact with roots.

The ingredients needed are a 50 percent DDT wettable powder and an oil such as No. 2 fuel oil — the heating oil commonly used in oil-burning furnaces — or diesel oil. To prepare a 5 percent DDT solution, use 14 ounces of the 50 percent DDT powder to each gallon of oil. The DDT will dissolve in a gallon of oil if stirred for about 15 minutes and if the temperature is 70 degrees or above. For 10 gallons, stir about 30 minutes, with longer stirrings being required as the amount increases. In mixing drums, the oil can be heated by placing in the sun for several hours.

To control termites effectively, the 5 percent solution of DDT in oil should be thoroughly mixed with the soil along the foundation or around the foundation pillars. To do this, a trench of about the width of a shovel can be dug along the wall. The depth of the trench will depend on the type of construction. The trench needs to be extended at least 4 or 5 feet beyond the section in which the termites appear to be active, and at times, it will be necessary to trench all the way around a building.

The DDT solution is easily applied by means of a garden sprinkling can with the sprinkling head removed. First treat the bottom of the trench. Then, put a 6-inch layer of soil back in the trench and treat the added soil with solution. Repeat this process until the trench is filled.

Shrubbery can be protected by lining the side of the trench adjacent to it with either copper lined sisal-craft paper or with a heavy roofing paper. Put some earth against these mechanical barriers to hold them in place while applying the soil poison.

CITRUS COST DATA AVAILABLE

Cuts of production, yield, and income data for Valencia oranges and lemons have been recently summarized by the Agricultural Extension Service. Farm Advisor Joe Conny feels that these 1949 figures show more than ever the need for growers to critically appraise all input of labor and materials. Cash cost in 1949 were the highest ever reported. Also, fruit quantity and percent of fruit packed continue to be important factor in determining profit.

Lemon returns per packed box were nearly double those of any previous year. But Conny reminds that last winter's freeze was a deciding factor. There were just fewer lemons to be marked as fresh fruit, and they were able to be sold at a favorable figure.

Copies of 1949 Citrus Management Study for San Diego County may be obtained by contacting the Farm Advisors' Office, 4705 Rosecrans Street, San Diego 10, California.

DAIRYING LEADS STATE AGRICULTURE

Dairying is California's leading agricultural industry. This is the theme of the University of California's educational exhibit at the 1950 Grand National Livestock Show at the Cow Palace in San Francisco this week. Based on wholesale figures, the gross revenue from the industry in California last year was about $450 million. Milk accounted for the bulk of this sum. Market milk and cream totaled 257 million dollars, according to figures from the Giannini Foundation at the University of California, and evaporated and condensed milk, ice cream, butter, and powdered milk products were worth another 112 million dollars.

The dairy industry also furnishes a good portion of the beef supply in the state, amounting to approximately 60 million dollars in 1949.

Usually considered a special field, milk production and manufacturing are closely integrated with many commercial aspects of the state as well as with its physical well-being. Clem Pellissier, dairy specialist at Davis explained.

"For example, the dairy industry provides one of the best markets for the raw materials grown on California farms. A good portion of the hay crops, grain, by-product feeds, pasture crops—both permanent and irrigated—are consumed by dairy animals," he said.

"And back into the soil go about 24 million dollars worth of fertilizer."

The annual expenditure of the dairy industry for labor totals approximately 150 million dollars. About 80 million pays the wages of farm laborers. Another 64 million is spent for industrial labor in processing plants and in distribution.

Originally planned information for the city folks, who are in the majority as visitors to the Grand National Livestock Show, the University exhibit—prepared by the animal husbandry division and the Agricultural Extension Service—is proving an eye-opener even to the dairy producers themselves, concluded the Extension specialist.

FOOD SITUATION NOT AS ADAPTABLE NOW

If the war situation grows more critical, farmers will find that food production increases, on a percentage basis, will be more difficult to make than in World War II, says Farm Advisor E. C. Moore, of San Diego County.

However the farmer will favor no mere governmental control than are necessary; so indicate Guy Black, assistant specialist at the University of California Agricultural Experiment Station in a recent report.

So far, under present limited military operations, there is moderate pressure on the food supply. Moderate increases in demand may be expected from military purchases, rearming foreign countries, and domestic. While agricultural price policy is uncertain, an adoption of present programs would be like California, while truly the land of specialty crops, has many important crops that are competitive on a national basis, such as grains, livestock, dairy products, cotton, eggs, and potatoes.

California farmers will find the looking at the national economic picture will be useful.

Farmers and others recognize that wars have a favorable effect on prices of agricultural products. The outbreak of the Korean war was followed by a flurry of speculative activity. The increases were widespread but did not apply to most commodities of which large stocks were held by the Commodity Credit Corporation.

Short-run increases in supply of foods can be obtained by dropping output restrictions and state or federal marketing agreements. Short-run adjustments can be made in poultry, egg production, and dairy products. Changes in the heavens which livestock are fed will create the supply within a moderate period of time, although decreasing it at first. Short-run changes in supply of field crops can result from regulating packing and grading practices.

Changes in the price of food resulting from a war will in affect the supply of poultry products and meat animals. Government agricultural policies may deliberately designed to encourage production of some or more than others, where certain commodities are considered to be crucial or likely to be affected.

Rev. Dan Apra Performs Ceremony for His Sister

The Congregational Church was the setting for the wedding of Miss Evangeline Apra of Berkeley, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. A. B. Apra, of Ontario, and Mr. Edward Earl Scott, of Bloomington, Ill., Saturday afternoon. The Rev. Dan Apra, brother of the bride, read the ceremony in the presence of 35 relatives and intimate friends.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Margaret Butler sang "Through the Years" and "I Love You Truly," accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Martha Thomas, who also played the nuptial marches.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She chose the traditional white satin gown, en-train. Her finger tip veil was fastened to a tiara of satin seeded with pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Mary Apra, of Pasadena, who wore a gown of aqua satin with matching cap and mitts and carried a nosegay of pink and white chrysanthemums.

Mr. Frank Scott, of Bloomington, was best man.

Rev. and Mrs. Dan Apra presided at a reception at their home on Olive street. Refreshments were served by Mrs. David Apra, from a table centered with a tiered wedding cake, complemented on either side by lighted green tapers in silver candlesticks.

After a month's wedding trip up the coast, Mr. and Mrs. Scott will return to Lemon Grove, thence to Bloomington, Ill., to make their home.

The health-breaking burdens of the Presidency are complained of by every man who holds the job. Yet through a long lifetime of newspapering, with many acquaintances among the great and near great, I know of only one man who has refused to continue to carry those burdens. That one man was Calvin Coolidge. His historic statement: "I do not choose to run" was definitive, and he meant it. All others would like more of the burdens of which they complain.

Dry Fly "Tops"

Of the two kinds of artificial flies, wet and dry, the dry fly takes top place because, with all its limitations, it is the highest development of fly fishing. The dry fly is fished on the surface to lure a surface-feeding trout. Its chances of producing a strike on every cast are greater because evidence of surface-feeding trout is easily seen, and therefore the cast can be designed and with a degree of confidence not possible with the wet fly.

The fact that music can bring certain colors to mind has long been recognized by psychologists. Two of them, Henry S. Odert and Theodore F. Karowski, found that out of 148 college students—59 per cent were able to "see" a color or colors while listening to music. Of the number, 53 per cent were able to associate a color and 31 per cent felt a color response. Newton related colors to the diatonic scale in this manner: Do, red; re, orange; mi, yellow; fa, green; sol, blue; la, indigo; and si, violet. Attempts have been made to fashion color organs and other devices to express the correlation of color and music.

To the Editor

In last week's Review mention was made of the excellent showing of Cub Scout Pack 8 in the National Roll Call with an almost unbelievable rating of 92.8. In giving credit where credit is due, salute Harry Desdick, Lemon Grove's excellent cubmaster, for his untiring efforts in bringing Lemon Grove's cub pack from eight members in March of 1947 to the 109 total of today. Harry's super guidance along with the wonderful help of assistant cubmasters and den mothers, make Lemon Grove's Cub Scout Pack a shining example of what can be done when the interests of our young boys become paramount in the minds of those who devote their time to this worthwhile cause.—John A. van Gilse.
